The School Song

1. In old Kowloon, there stands Ts'un To,
   A school beloved by all,
   Her name and fame, we loved to sing,
   Her praises to recall.

2. With work and play and worship here,
   We fill each useful day,
   And seek to follow Him who is
   The Life, the Truth, the Way.

3. With Christian training forth we go,
   But memory's golden chain,
   Shall bind us still, with links of love,
   And prompt the old refrain:

(Refrain)
Ts'un To, Ts'un To to her we bring
With hearts and voices blending,
The love and praise of youthful days,
A song that knows no ending.

Message from the Supervisor

This Musical marks the climax of the Golden Jubilee celebration of Methodist College. The theme, “We’re All in This Together”, underpins the spirit that has carried the College through the past half century and beyond. Only when we treasure the past will we appreciate the present, and face the future with faith and courage.

The students have shown their aesthetic creativity and performing talents, which are part of the holistic development we cherish at Methodist, in our classrooms without walls.

May the vision of our forerunners and the passions of our contemporaries nourish this and the many generations to come. I wish you all an enjoyable evening.

Dr. Raymond Chen C.J.
Supervisor

Message from Chaplain

Some philosophers believe that the “present” never exists alone. It is the point by which the past and the future are connected.

Likewise, the METHODIST COLLEGE Golden Jubilee Musical tells the development of the school over the past five decades. It is hoped that by basing the musical on this historical foundation, an even more successful and glorious future will materialize.

Let every one of us who has been connected to Methodist College in one way or another, once again, feel the love and enrich the ties with the school that has blessed us by recapturing our collective memories. I hope the performance will bind us together to contribute and to carry the school forward for the next 50 years. May we all seek perfection on top of the good foundation, and with our concerted effort, may we bring the school to another summit and accomplish the mission of the Whole Person Education entrusted by God.

May God bless our performance with remarkable success.

Rev. Wilson Chan Tak Cheong
Welcome home, all of you who are related to Methodist College in one way or another – staff of the past and present, students, parents, alumni and friends alike. This evening, we are all here for one single purpose: To relive a half-century of Methodist College history and find our place in it. Through our students’ performances on the stage, we shall go back in time and see how the College has thrived, side by side with the Hong Kong people, through the challenges of different decades.

In producing this Musical, we have boldly taken the road less travelled. Instead of following the norm of purchasing a ready-made musical and inviting a drama company to come in and handle all the training and production matters for us, we have chosen to create our own story and write our own script. We trained our own orchestra to record the music, and we are particularly grateful to our two young and promising alumni, Mr. Andy Yau (Fai Sheh), and Miss Candy Lo (Ming Sheh), who have contributed wholeheartedly in co-directing this musical and coaching our performers. We do not intend to make this a spectacular and dazzling show, for as we are all well aware, there can never be enough 'drama' in a school's history. Also, Methodist College does not have a strong tradition of staging large-scale performances. Rather, we envision and warmly consider this event as a precious reunion of the Methodist College family. Together, let us appreciate the hard work of our young performers, who are bringing back to us all the happy memories associated with the College’s 50 years of history. Your affiliation is what we treasure the most – because We’re All In This Together. I wish you all a wonderful evening.

May all the glory be to God! He has blessed the College in the past, and we rejoice in the faith that He will continue to journey with us to the future.

Miss Emily Wong Pui Yi
Principal

Thoughts from our Musical Directors

Our 50th Anniversary Methodist College Musical has provided a precious opportunity for our students to learn outside the classroom. Being involved in a musical is a rare and unique experience for students to build upon their knowledge, and at the same time, it allows them to share their passion and talent for music, dancing and acting. I am sure that this extraordinary experience will remain with them for a lifetime and will undoubtedly be one of their highlights and one of their most meaningful learning experiences of their secondary school life. After tonight, I am sure that the students will be very proud of themselves and will realize the value of cooperation, commitment and a lot of hard work.

This function is a unity of different generations of the Methodist College family. Alumni from different years and present students have worked hand in hand together to present this vivid picture of the past 50 years. To be a working member in this musical has granted me a distinctive and honorable privilege. I am especially proud of our young students.

Miss Lee Wai Sze, Grace (MC Teacher)

“Rome was not built in one day” – this famous saying best describes the entire creative process of our 50th anniversary musical. When we began with the idea of outlining the historical highlights of our alma mater, we all found that the task was gigantic and slightly a “mission impossible”, especially in the wake of the large number of events that emerged from the past. Our Alumni provided us with many insightful and vivid personal recollections during their time at Methodist College. These recollections represented many episodes from the distant past. While official records did not intend to portray the students’ lives from their perspectives, the alumni’s contributions have filled the gaps with humor and sincerity and for that, we are extremely grateful.
